

Hiroyuki AKITA

Commentator of Nikkei, Japan

Hiroyuki Akita is a commentator for Nikkei. He regularly writes commentaries and columns, analysis mainly on foreign & international security affairs. He joined Nikkei in 1987 and worked at the Political News Dept. where he covered Japanese foreign & security policies, and domestic politics. He was Senior & Editorial Staff Writer (2009-17), and he also worked at "Leader Writing Team" of the Financial Times in London (Oct-Dec, 16).

AKITA was Beijing Correspondent (94-98) and Washington Chief Correspondent (2002-06). In Beijing, he reported major news events such as the death of Deng Xiaoping, Hong Kong handover to China. In Washington DC, he covered White House & Pentagon, State Department during the George W. Bush administration.

He graduated from Jiyu Gakuen College in 1987 and Boston University (M.A.). From 2006 to 07, he was an associate of the US-Japan Program at Harvard University. In March 2019, he won the Vaughn-Ueda International Journalist Award, a prize for outstanding reporting of international affairs. He is an author of two books in Japanese: "Anryu (Power Game of US-China-Japan)" (2008), "Ranryu (Strategic Competition of US-Japan and China)" (2016).

Check out Hiroyuki Akita's latest commentary piece "Singapore summit highlights quasi-war atmosphere looming over Asia".